BOSTON, APRIL 10.

ON Wedneſday laſt the Great and General Court or Aſſembly of this Province, met in the Chapel of Harvard College at Cambridge. The Houſe of Repreſentatives having, with leave of his Excellency the Governor, proceeded to chooſe a Speaker pro tempore, and in the abſence of Mr. Cuſhing, confined by ſickneſs, made choice of John Hancock, Eſq; whom his Excellency was pleaſed to approve of in a meſſage ſent down by the Secretary, and at the ſame time directed the attendance of the Houſe in the Council Chamber, when his Excellency was pleaſed to make the following SPEECH to the two Houſes, viz.

Gentlemen of the Council, and
Gentlemen of the Houſe of Repreſentatives,

I HAVE, from time to time, regularly tranſmitted the applications which have been made to me, in former ſeſſions, to convene the General Court in the town of Boſton, together with the meſſages, reſolves and votes of every kind, which have paſſed upon that ſubject, and they have all been laid before the King. This is all I could do, conſiſtent with my duty, for, as I have before obſerved to you, I prorogued the Court to Cambridge, upon a ſignification of his Majeſty's pleaſure to that purpoſe, and I may not remove it to Boſton without his Majeſty's permiſſion.

Our moſt gracious Sovereign is ever ready to afford a favourable attention to ſuch petitions and requeſts of his ſubjects as do not tend to injure the conſtitution, and are, in other reſpects, reaſonable to be granted; and if you had deſired me to carry the Court to Boſton, becauſe it is the moſt convenient place, and the Prerogative of the Crown to inſtruct the Governor to convene the Court at ſuch place as his Majeſty may think proper had not been denied, I ſhould have obtained leave to meet you at Boſton at this time; but I ſhall not be at liberty to do it whilſt this denial is perſiſted in. If you ſhall deſiſt from it, and the removal of the Court to Boſton ſhall, for other reaſons, be judged expedient, I have authority to acquaint you, that his Majeſty will allow me to comply with your wiſhes.

I have received, in the receſs of the Court, a letter from his Excellency William Tryon, Eſquire, Governor of his Majeſty's province of New-York, propoſing, with great candour, meaſures for the ſettlement of the boundary line between the two provinces. The Secretary will lay a copy of this letter before you. I recommend the ſubject of it to your conſideration, and ſhall be willing to contribute every thing in my power to finiſh this long ſubſiſting controverſy.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Repreſentatives,

Upon enquiry into the ſtate of the treaſury, I find there are ſurpluſſes of funds which have been eſtabliſhed for the payment of ſums borrowed for the charges of government in paſt years, and theſe, together with other unappropriated ſtocks, are more than equal to the ſum which is neceſſary to ſatisfy the preſent demands upon the treaſury, and to provide for the ſervice of the advancing year.

The Treaſurer will lay before you the ſtate of the treaſury, and an eſtimate of the ſums requiſite for its ſupply. It is with you to originate ſuch a bill as you ſhall judge proper.

Gentlemen of the Council, and Houſe of Repreſentatives,

Much time is uſually ſpent by the General Court in conſidering petitions for new trials at law, for leave to ſell the real eſtates of perſons deceaſed, by their executors or adminiſtrators, and the real eſtates of minors by their guardians. All ſuch private buſineſs is properly cognizable by the eſtabliſhed judicatories. If it be neceſſary that further powers ſhould be given to ſuch judicatories, or that new courts ſhould be erected, I am willing to conſent to any good and wholeſome law or laws, for thoſe purpoſes. A legiſlative body conſiſting of three diſtinct parts, the conſent of each of which is neceſſary to every valid act, is extremely improper for ſuch deciſions. The polity of the Engliſh government ſeldom admits of the exerciſe of this executive and judiciary power by the legiſlature, and I know of nothing ſpecial in the government of this province to give countenance to it.

There ſhall be no delay on my part in the buſineſs of the ſeſſion, and I will lay nothing unneceſſary before you.

APRIL 13. On Friday laſt the following ANSWER to the Governor's ſpeech to both Houſes of Aſſembly, was unanimouſly voted in the Houſe of Repreſentatives, and the next day it was ſent up to his Excellency, viz.

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

THE Houſe of Repreſentatives have duly conſidered your Speech to both Houſes at the opening of this ſeſſion.

Your Excellency is pleaſed to acquaint us, that "If we had deſired you to carry the Court to Boſton, becauſe it is the moſt convenient place, and the Prerogative of the Crown to inſtruct the Governor to convene the Court at ſuch place as his Majeſty may think proper, had not been denied, you ſhould have obtained leave to meet us at Boſton at this time; but that you ſhall not be at liberty to do it whilſt this denial is perſiſted in."

We have maturely conſidered this point; and are ſtill firmly of opinion, that ſuch Inſtruction is repugnant to the Royal Charter, wherein the Governor is veſted with the full power of adjourning, proroguing and diſſolving the General Aſſembly as he ſhall judge neceſſary. Nothing in the Charter appears to us to afford the leaſt grounds to conclude that a right is reſerved to his Majeſty of controuling the Governor in thus exerciſing this full power; nor indeed does it ſeem reaſonable that there ſhould; for it being impoſſible that any one at the diſtance of three thouſand miles ſhould be able to foreſee the moſt convenient time and place of holding the Aſſembly, it is neceſſary that ſuch diſcretionary power ſhould be lodged in the Governor or Commander in Chief, who is by Charter conſtantly to reſide within the province.

We are ſtill earneſtly deſirous of the removal of this Aſſembly to the Court-Houſe in Boſton; and we are ſorry that your Excellency's determination thereon depends upon our diſavowing theſe principles; becauſe we cannot do it conſiſtently with that duty which we owe to our conſtituents. We are conſtrained to be explicit at this time; for if we ſhould be ſilent, after your Excellency has recommended it to us as a neceſſary preliminary to deſiſt from ſaying any thing upon this head, while we requeſt your Excellency for a removal of the Aſſembly for reaſons of convenience only, it might be conſtrued as tacitly conceeding to a doctrine injurious to the conſtitution, and in effect as reſcinding our own record, of which we ſtill deliberately approve.

The power of adjourning and proroguing the General Aſſembly, is a power in truſt to be exerciſed for the good of the province; and this Houſe have a right to judge for themſelves, whether it is thus exerciſed. We cannot avoid taking this occaſion freely to declare to your Excellency, that the holding the Aſſembly in this place without any good reaſon that we can conceive of, under the many and great inconveniences which this and former Houſes have ſo fully ſet forth to your Excellency, is in our opinion an undue exerciſe of the power; and a very great grievance, which we ſtill hope will ſoon be fully redreſſed.

Your Excellency may be aſſured, that this Houſe will with all convenient diſpatch, take into our moſt ſerious conſideration that part of your Speech which concerns the eſtabliſhment of a partition-line between this province and the province of New-York; and that we will with great candour contribute every thing in our power to accompliſh the ſame upon equitable terms.

The other parts of your Excellency's Speech have had the proper attention of the Houſe; and we are determined, during the remainder of this ſeſſion, which muſt be ſhort, to conſult his Majeſty's real ſervice, the true intereſt of the province.

CAMBRIDGE, SATURDAY 25th APRIL, 1772.

THE Houſe having ſent a Meſſage to his Excellency the Governor, informing him that they had paſſed upon all matters of a public nature before them, and were deſirous of a receſs as ſoon as his Excellency pleaſed; the Secretary thereupon went down to the Houſe of Repreſentatives from his Excellency directing their attendance in the Council Chamber.

Mr. Speaker and the Houſe attended accordingly, when the Secretary informed the two Houſes reſpectively that his Excellency had ſigned his conſent to ſeveral engroſſed bills.

After which his Excellency was pleaſed to make the following SPEECH to the two Houſes, viz.

Gentlemen of the Council, and
Gentlemen of the Houſe of Repreſentatives,

I THANK you for the diſpatch which you have given to the public buſineſs, and for that harmony which has generally prevailed in the courſe of the preſent ſeſſion.

I am ſorry that there is any material point remaining in which the ſeveral branches of the legiſlature cannot yet agree. The opinion of the Houſe of Repreſentatives, declared in their Meſſage to me, that the removal of the Aſſembly from Boſton by force of an Inſtruction from his Majeſty, is an undue exerciſe of power and a very great grievance, differs widely from my own opinion of the Prerogative reſerved by the Crown, and the duty required of the Governor by the conſtitution.

In ſupport of my opinion I will lay before you what appears to me to be the true ſpirit of the Charter. I am not contending for victory, but I wiſh to ſatisfy you that there is no room to ſuggeſt that the King has been the cauſe of grievance to his ſubjects by giving an Inſtruction to the Governor, which by the conſtitution his Majeſty had not authority to give. I am likewiſe deſirous that my own conduct ſhould appear in a favourable light to you and to the good people of the Province.

It may be proper then to obſerve, that the firſt Charter to the Maſſachuſetts Colony having been vacated, our anceſtors, ſenſible of the neceſſity of ſome form of government conſtitutionally derived from regal authority, humbly ſolicited the reſtoration of their Charter, with ſuch additional powers as the Crown ſhould think proper to grant, and thereupon, to uſe the words of the Houſe of Repreſentatives in the year 1728, "their late Majeſties "King William and Queen Mary of glorious memory, were "graciouſly pleaſed to gratify the inhabitants here, and did "grant to them certain powers, privileges and franchiſes to be "uſed and employed for the benefit of the people; and, in the "ſame grant, reſerved other powers to be uſed and exerciſed by "the Crown or the Governors ſent by it, agreeable to the direc-"tions and inſtructions contained in the ſaid grant and their "commiſſions, having reference for their better guidance and "directions to the ſeveral powers and authorities mentioned in "the ſaid Charter."

It is further obſervable, that by the firſt Charter the Crown had conſtituted a Corporation in England impowered to appoint, under its direction and inſtructions, Governors and other Officers in the Colony. By this ſecond Charter the Crown reſerves to itſelf the power of appointing and commiſſionating a Governor and Lieutenant or Deputy Governor. By their Commiſſions they were authoriſed to adminiſter Government according to ſuch Inſtructions as ſhould be given by the Crown in purſuance of the Charter and of ſuch reaſonable Laws as ſhould be in force. Now although I cannot conceive of this tranſaction as, properly ſpeaking, a Treaty or Compact, yet it may be proper to obſerve that, after the Charter and theſe Commiſſions had been made public and matter of record in the Province, the Governor and Council with the Repreſentatives of the People not only acquieſced in and acted by virtue of, powers and authorities thus derived and thus limited by Inſtructions, but by a Law or Order they required to be obſerved throughout the Province a day of ſolemn Thankſgiving to Almighty God for the diſtinguiſhing marks of royal favour in this ſettlement of Government.

This has been the tenor of the Commiſſions to all ſucceeding Governors ever ſince, and their Inſtructions have been from time to time, as there has been occaſion for it, communicated to the Council and to the Houſe of Repreſentatives, ſometimes at their requeſt, and have been entered in their minutes and journals, and I never heard that the King's authority to give ſuch Inſtructions was ever called in queſtion until within theſe two years. Inſtructions from the Crown have been, in fact, part of our Conſtitution for fourſcore years together.

I will now endeavour to ſhew that there has not been any exception taken to his Majeſty's Inſtruction to remove the Aſſembly from the Town of Boſton which will not equally avail againſt Inſtructions in general, or in any other particular caſe whatſoever.

It has been ſaid that the Crown has parted with its prerogative of determining the time and place of convening the Aſſembly, and given it to the Governor to be uſed as he ſhall judge neceſſary, therefore an Inſtruction which controuls the Governor's diſcretion in the exerciſe of this power cannot be ſaid to be an Inſtruction in purſuance of the Charter and agreeable to the Conſtitution.

I muſt obſerve to you that all the powers which are given by the Charter to the Governor without the words as he ſhall judge neceſſary, are as ample as thoſe which are given with them, for the Governor is to exerciſe the general powers given him according to his beſt diſcretion, which is, in other words, as he ſhall judge neceſſary. But if you will attend to the Charter you will find a peculiar propriety in the uſe of the words, in that paragraph, for another purpoſe. The Governor is required to convene the Aſſembly the laſt Wedneſday in May in every year for the election of Councellors, and this he muſt do whether he judges it neceſſary or not, but then he is impowered to adjourn, prorogue and diſſolve it from time to time as he ſhall judge neceſſary, which words are uſed merely to denote that he is not confined to any other time of convening the Court except the laſt Wedneſday in May. What pretence then can there be to diſtinguiſh this from any other power, or what exerciſe of power can there be purſuant to the Charter, by force of an Inſtruction, if this is not? If it be ſaid that in other inſtances alſo of power given to the Governor to uſe according to his diſcretion, the King has parted with his prerogative, the reſerve made by the Crown to give Inſtructions to the Governor can in no caſe whatſoever have any effect. The fallacy of the whole argument will appear from this diſtinction. Where the Charter gives any privilege to the People, as in the caſe juſt mentioned, of an Aſſembly to be held every laſt Wedneſday in May and the like, in ſuch caſes an Inſtruction to reſtrain the Governor may be ſaid to be repugnant to the Charter. Where it gives power to the Governor to be uſed according to diſcretion, or as he ſhall judge neceſſary, there an Inſtruction to direct or guide in the exerciſe of ſuch power is not repugnant but purſuant to the Charter. And there is no contradiction in it, for the Governor may, very well, be ſuppoſed to have a general power of acting according to his own diſcretion, and, nevertheleſs be ſubject in ſpecial inſtances or on ſpecial occaſions to the controul of royal wiſdom or diſcretion.

It has been further urged as an objection to this particular Inſtruction, that the King, at the diſtance of three thouſand miles, cannot foreſee the proper time and place for convening the General Aſſembly. It is enough, for my preſent purpoſe, to obſerve that his Majeſty may have ſo full a knowledge of the ſtate and circumſtances of a particular town or place as to be able to determine that it is not proper to convene the Aſſembly there. Upon ſuch knowledge, I doubt not, this Inſtruction was founded, and I have no reaſon to expect that any other Inſtruction will ever be given which cannot be as well juſtified.

There has been one more objection made to this exerciſe of the Prerogative, viz. that it is a power in truſt to be exerciſed for the good of the Province, and the Houſe of Repreſentatives have a right to judge for themſelves whether it is thus exerciſed. If nothing more is intended than that the Houſe of Repreſentatives have a right to judge of the exerciſe of that or any other part of the Prerogative, and when they have any cauſe of Complaint, to ſeek redreſs by Repreſentations to his Majeſty, or in any conſtitutional way, I don't know that any body will deny it; but then I know not to what purpoſe it is adduced. If it be intended that when the Governor, by His Majeſty's Order convenes the Aſſembly at a time inconvenient or improper, they have a right to appear or to refuſe to proceed upon buſineſs, or that they have a right to continue to ſit after the Governor has prorogued or diſſolved the Aſſembly, in their judgment, unreaſonably or unneceſſarily, will not this imply, a Contradiction? Is it not allowing a full power to do a thing, and at the ſame time admitting a power to defeat it, and prevent the full power from having any effect?

Thus I think I have obviated all the objections which have been made to this Inſtruction in particular. I have already obſerved to you that Inſtructions in general are ſupported by your Charter, I muſt now add that, had no ſuch expreſs proviſion been made, they would have been unexceptionable and conſtitutional. The King is the Head of the Government not only in the Realm but in the Plantations. Local diſtance will not admit of the exerciſe of the Royal authority in the Plantations by the King in perſon. This authority remains notwithſtanding, and although it muſt be exerciſed by a Subſtitute, yet as much as may be of the Royal guidance and influence is to be preſerved and maintained. This muſt be done by Inſtructions for the general conduct of the Governor, and upon ſpecial occaſions, as extraordinary unforeſeen events may make them neceſſary.

But what benefit can we propoſe if it ſhould be admitted that the Governor is not liable to be controuled by Inſtructions? The reſerve in the Royal Commiſſion is not made to deprive the People of any privilege, but to reſtrain the Governor from uſing to their oppreſſion or hurt, or to the diminution of the juſt Prerogative of the Crown, that power and authority with which he is intruſted. Shall we be more ſafe with a Governor left altogether to his own diſcretion than with one who is under the controul and guidance of our Sovereign? The Houſe of Repreſentatives to which I have before referred you thought not. In a meſſage to the Governor, in the Reign of His Majeſty's Royal Grandfather, they very properly obſerve, "It is not reaſonable "we ſhould confide in any Governor whatſoever ſo much as in "our gracious King, the common father of all his people, who "is known to delight in nothing ſo much as in their happineſs, "and whoſe intereſt and glory, and that of his Royal Progeny, "are inſeperable from the proſperity and welfare of his people; "whereas, neither the proſperity nor adverſity of a people affect "a Governor's intereſt when he has once left them."

We have abundant reaſon to adopt the ſame language and ſentiment in the Reign of his preſent Majeſty, who has nothing more at heart than the happineſs and proſperity of his Subjects in all parts of his dominions.

In conformity to the Charter, which limits the time of your continuance, I am now obliged to diſſolve an Aſſembly which has diſcovered a very good diſpoſition to ſuch meaſures as tend to promote the proſperity of the Province. I have great reaſon to believe the People of the Province in general are in the ſame diſpoſition, and that I ſhall meet a new Aſſembly as well inclined to the like meaſures.

T. HUTCHINSON.

Council-Chamber, Cambridge, 25th April, 1772.

WILLIAMSBURG, (Virginia) APRIL 9.

The county of Botetourt has been divided this Aſſembly, and we are informed, that the new county is to be called Fincaſtle. The county of Frederick has likewiſe had two new counties taken from it, one of which is named Berkley, the other Dunmore.

We are informed that the noted John Eyre, Eſquire, who though a man of fortune, was lately tranſported into this country for ſtealing paper, died about three days after his arrival; and that five-and-twenty hundred pounds in Bank Notes, and fifty Guineas, were found in his poſſeſſion. From ſome letters found about him, he appears to have been one of the greateſt miſcreants that ever exiſted; he had loſt a leg, and was of a moſt ruſeful figure, an index, as it would ſeem, of the depravity of his heart.

APRIL 16. On Saturday laſt, the buſineſs of the General Aſſembly being finiſhed, his Excellency John, Earl of Dunmore, Governor, &c. went to the Capitol, and gave his Aſſent to a number of Acts, &c. and then cloſed the ſeſſion with the following SPEECH:

Gentlemen of the Council,
Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the Houſe of Burgeſſes,

THE public buſineſs being concluded, it becomes neceſſary to put an end to this ſeſſion of Aſſembly, and I recommend to you to uſe your beſt endeavours, in your ſeveral counties, to enforce that ſpirit of induſtry which alone can make a country flouriſh, and to promote a ſtrict obſervance of that order and regularity which are equally neceſſary to the ſecurity of all good government, as well as to the real welfare of the people. On my part, I ſhall ſtedfaſtly watch over the preſervation of your laws, and ever be ready to adminiſter them for the protection of all your juſt rights and privileges.

I do prorogue you to Thurſday the 25th of June, and you are accordingly prorogued to Thurſday the 25th of June next.

BASSETERRE, (St. Chriſtopher's) APRIL 22.

On Friday evening laſt, about half an hour after ſix o'clock, was felt here a ſmall ſhock of an earthquake, which laſted about fifteen ſeconds. At the ſame time a moſt violent ſhock was felt at St. John's in Antigua, which laſted near a minute.

On Monday evening laſt a Ball was given at the Court-Houſe, his Excellency Sir Ralph Payne and his Lady were preſent; the Ladies and Gentlemen made a grand appearance, and the evening paſſed with the greateſt harmony.

LONDON, MARCH 10

The SPEECH of the Right Honourable HANS STANLEY, on the Petition for aboliſhing Subſcription to the Thirty-nine Articles.

MR. SPEAKER,

I DO not profeſs to be deeply ſkilled in Theology, and, if I did, yet I would not encroach upon the province of thoſe, who make it their peculiar ſtudy. Let every claſs of men exerciſe their own art. Ne ſutor ultra crepidam is no bad maxim; and if it had been properly obſerved of late, we ſhould have heard of fewer complaints againſt the church as well as the ſtate. That I may not be charged with violating my own rule, I will only conſider this queſtion in a political light, and expreſs the ſentiments not of a divine, but of a ſtateſman.

"And here allow me to declare my attachment to religious as well as civil liberty. No man can be a greater friend than I to toleration; becauſe no tyranny can be more dreadful than that which is exerciſed over the mind; and if I diſcovered any ſymptoms of this intolerant ſpirit in our church I ſhould be very ready to give it a check. But as nothing of this nature appears, the ſame moderation diſpoſes me to throw my weight into the oppoſite ſcale, and to prevent that licenciouſneſs of innovation, which the extreme lenity of our eccleſiaſtical diſcipline ſeems to have bred.

"The object of this motion is no leſs than the abſolute deſtruction of the Church. For how, I beſeech you, is the fabric of it cemented and held together but by creeds and ſubſcriptions. Remove the Thirty-nine Articles, and the whole edifice falls to the ground. I cannot therefore help conſidering the petitioners as men, who tell others that they will come and live with them, but that they muſt previouſly pull down their houſe, though, if they had deſired the door to be altered it might poſſibly have been more convenient. It is no new thing, to be ſure, to alter religion; but it will certainly be a little unprecedented to alter in this [illegible] naked-Tub, will monſtrous [illegible] what the [illegible] princi- [illegible] tion; but [illegible] compliment [illegible] entlemen, [illegible] for adopt- [illegible] diviſions [illegible] foundation that I diſapprove of proceeding [illegible] ter. The Church has eſtabliſhed thirty-nine articles of faith, and I pay them all due reſpect, but ſtill I have in my creed a fortieth article, in my eſtimation as important as any of them, and, I had almoſt ſaid, worth them all; and that is, Public Peace. This eſſential purpoſe I never found in all my reading or experience, greatly promoted by theological controverſy. Religious queſtions are generally captious queſtions, and cannot be ſtirred without eminent danger to the community. Theological hatred is notorious to a proverb. I hope that you will have more prudence than to rouſe it at this juncture, when it may kindle a flame that will not be eaſily laid. Have you not already buſineſs enough upon your hands? Are not affairs of the utmoſt conſequence on the eve of being laid before you? Why then create employment without any urgent neceſſity? Conſider the fury of religious mobs, and drop the idea. Political mobs are in compariſon of them harmleſs as doves. Of the latter you have had ſome experience. Do you intend alſo to try what ſpirit the former are of? Methinks the commotions raiſed by Sacheverel might be a ſufficient leſſon to reaſonable men. Should you be bold enough to ſet fire to the train, I certainly ſhall not be one of the adventurers. I am not ſufficiently hardy. Let others gird on the ſword of the ſpirit, or in other words, the ſword of the fleſh. My ſtudy ſhall be to preſerve public peace, as the moſt ſacred and inviolable article of religion."

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS his Majeſty, by his Royal Order in Council, bearing Date at St. James's, the Fifteenth Day of January, 1772, was graciouſly pleaſed to declare his Royal Approbation of an Act of the General Aſſembly of this Province, entitled, "An ACT to promote and carry more fully into Execution, "an Act to incorporate the Winyah Indico Society, now of Force in "this Province," paſſed the 6th Day of April, 1765, whereby the ſaid Act is confirmed, finally enacted, and ratified: I have therefore thought fit to iſſue this my Proclamation, notifying the Royal Pleaſure thereupon, that all Perſons concerned may take Notice thereof, and govern themſelves accordingly.

GIVEN under my Hand, and the Great Seal of the ſaid Province, at Charles-Town, this Sixteenth Day of May, Anno Domini, 1772, and in the Twelfth Year of his Majeſty's Reign.

LONDON, MARCH 7.

COLONEL Keith is ordered to inveſt himſelf with the Red Ribbon, a compliment uſually requeſted of the Sovereign of the country, where any of our ambaſſadors happen to be reſident. This ſome people think is a proof that the Courts of London and Copenhagen are not even on terms of civility.

Lord Holland's accounts are not yet made up, nor is there a poſſibility of their being ſo, as thoſe that preceded him in the office of paymaſter have not yet paſſed theirs, which is abſolutely neceſſary before his can come on.

The Emperor of Morocco has confined a Britiſh merchant at Mequinez on a falſe, groundleſs information, ſent him from hence by Jews, and has alſo diſclaimed the Britiſh Conſul-general in Barbary as ſuch, and ſent him notice to depart his dominions forthwith.

MARCH 9. Diſpathes arrived by Friday's Mails from their Excellencies the Earl of Harcourt at Paris, and Lord Grantham at Madrid, which were laid before his Majeſty.

A Privy Council was held on Friday night, which was very full, moſt of the great Officers of State, &c. attending; after it broke up, a Meſſenger was diſpatched to his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

Friday night, about 8 o'clock, a grand meeting of all the Proteſting Lords, met at the Duke of Richmond's in Privy Gardens. His Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, his Grace the Duke of Northumberland, and ſeveral Nobleman of the higheſt diſtinction, were preſent.

The Lords who ſigned the Proteſt on Thurſday laſt, againſt the Bill for regulating the Marriages of the Royal Family, were, Dukes of Dorſet, Devonſhire, Portland, and Richmond, Marquis of Rockingham, Lords Abingdon, Albemarle, Abergavenny, Clifton, Craven, Fitzwilliam, Lyttleton, Milton, Radnor, Stamford and Tavnale, Biſhop of Bangor.

The Proteſt from the Houſe of Commons is expected to be in a much warmer ſtrain than that from the Houſe of Lords; but Adminiſtration having carried its point, little regards the paſſion of a looſing gameſter, and only turns thoſe complaints into ridicule, which the Minority pour out on the diſtreſſes of their Country.

A Gentleman expreſſing his ſurprize to a friend at the Smyrna Coffee-houſe, that ſo great a majority as 68 for the Bill, and 25 againſt it, could be found to paſs the Royal Marriage Bill, the latter replied, that if the Miniſtry brought in a Bill for annihilating the Chriſtan Religion, the Biſhops themſelves would vote for it, provided they were continued in the profeſſion of their temporalities.

There was a warm debate in Council on Tueſday laſt, whether the news from Denmark ought to be publiſhed in England.----It was at laſt, however, referred to his M------y, who was of opinion, that the publication of it would be only giving new opportunities to ſcandal, lies, and defamation, which have already made ſo free with his family.

No authentic account of the above affair need be expected till the trial of the State Priſoners is finiſhed at Copenhagen, at which time (as we are told) a full and authentic detail of the whole affair will be publiſhed, and ſent from Denmark to every Court in Europe.

Extract of a letter from Copenhagen, February 22.

" Yeſterday morning the Commiſſioners of Enquiry went to the citadel, and opened their Commiſſion in the Governor's houſe, for the examination of the Sate Priſoners. They began with Count Struenſee, who was brought in the Governor's coach about ten o'clock, from his place of confinement, guarded by two Serjeants and four Grenadiers with their bayonets fixed. He had on a blue ſuit of cloaths, and as he had not been ſhaved for five weeks, his beard was very long. At the entrance of the room where the Commiſſioners ſat, his chains were taken off, and he was permitted to ſit down during his examination, which laſted till two o'clock, when he was ſent back to priſon, and at four o'clock he was brought again, when his examination continued till after ſeven in the evening. He ſhewed a great deal of uneaſineſs all the time of his going and coming from examination. All we can learn with reſpect to his examination is, that he denied the charge that was laid againſt him. He was ſhewn the inſtruments of the torture he was to undergo, if he would not confeſs; but he ſaid they would get little out of him by ſuch means, as he always acted according to his conſcience. One of the Commiſſioners fell in a paſſion with him, to whom he replied, " that as he was cool, he hoped they would be ſo too," but at laſt he burſt into tears, confeſſed his guilt, and begged for mercy. When he was ordered back to priſon, he deſired to have a little time allowed him to compoſe himſelf. Major Falckenſhiold is taken into cuſtody, and guarded in his own houſe by two Serjeants and four ſoldiers. He wrote a note to his brother the Colonel, and gave it to his friſeur, who put it under his neckcloth, but the officer obſerving it, took it and delivered it to the Commiſſioners.

" The King's Meſſenger, who was ſent to London on the 18th of laſt month (Mr. Brummer) is returned with diſpatches of conſequence. Every body is deſirous to know whether the letters that are brought from London to the Queen, will be delivered to her at the Caſtle of Cronenburg. The Cabinet Secretary Paning, is ſince his examination cloſer confined than he was before, he cannot ſee his wife and children.

" Three Secretaries are appointed to the Commiſſion for the more ſpeedy expedition of the trials of the State Priſoners. More perſons are taken into cuſtody every day for conſpiracy."

Another letter from Copenhagen ſays, " After Count Struenſee was examined by the Preſident of the Council appointed for which made known to the King the reſult of the examination, which was, that the Queen had been found to be guilty of infidelity as well as of many high crimes againſt the ſtate, whereupon orders were immediately diſpatched to Cronenburg, commanding that the Queen be very cloſely confined, and that all acceſs be denied. The Count, it is here ſaid, will be beheaded in a few days, before the very window of the Caſtle in which her Majeſty is confined. When the Preſident went to the King, to inform him of the examination, he was at the levee, and on hearing the purport thereof, his Majeſty ſhed tears, retired to another apartment, and was ſeen no more that day."

Friday both Houſes of Convocation met, and further adjourned to the 3d of May.

The Iriſh Patriots, like the Engliſh, have quarrelled, and a total breach, we hear, has taken place between the Duke of Leinſter, the Speaker, and Mr. Flood.

A petition was lately preſented to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, from an Officer of that kingdom, praying for promotion; in which the petitioner actually urged, as claims to his Excellency's conſideration, that his brains were knocked out in America, and that he was the father of two orphans, who had not a parent exiſting to furniſh them with the neceſſaries of life.

MARCH 10. On Thurſday Baron Dieden de Furſtenſtein, ambaſſador from the Court of Denmark, arrived at his houſe in Harley-ſtreet, but he has not yet been at Court.

Yeſterday there was a numerous Court and Drawing-room at St. James's, at which their Majeſties were preſent.

Yeſterday ſome diſpatches arrived from the Duke of Glouceſter, dated at Naples the 11th of laſt month, by which we are aſſured that his Royal Highneſs's health was in a great meaſure re eſtabliſhed.

Yeſterday morning M. Mouſchin Pouſhin, the Ruſſian Ambaſſador, had the honour of a conference with his Majeſty at the Queen's Palace.

It is given out, that meſſages have been ſent to each of the Lords who have proteſted againſt the Royal Marriage Bill, deſiring them to attend on an appointed day at St. James's.

Yeſterday there was a very full Houſe of Commons, on the ſecond reading of the Royal Marriage Bill. During the debates, none were admitted into the Houſe but Members, the gallery door was kept locked the whole time, and notwithſtanding ſeveral Peers applied for admittance, they were refuſed.

A report is current of ſome diſagreeable accounts being received from the Courts of Copenhagen and Berlin.

Yeſterday morning ſome diſpatches were ſent off from the Secretary's Office, Cleveland Row, to Copenhagen and the Hague, as alſo to Lord Grantham at Madrid.

Count Struenſee's Brother will undergo nearly the ſame fate as himſelf, it appearing on the trial, that he was the Count's principal Tool, and employed by him to bring over the Governors of the different places in the Kingdom to an acquieſcence in all the changes and regulations which ſhould be made by the Queen at the inſtigation of the Count.

This day the ſecond battalion of the Royal Regiment of Artillery, will embark at Woolwich for Gibraltar.

Orders were ſent a few days ago to Woolwich, for manufacturing a conſiderable number of mooring chains, ſwivels, &c. which are to be tranſported to Gibraltar, on board of which the Artillery Companies are ſhortly to embark.

Britain, who has ſo much engroſſed the attention of the public, was laſt week acquitted at Reading, for forgery; there were two indictments againſt him, but no bill found. He was, however, ordered to be removed by Habeas Corpus to Briſtol, where there are ſeveral detainers lodged againſt him for ſimilar crimes.

Sir John Everton's Divorce Bill has paſſed the Houſe of Commons.

MARCH 12. Monday night a Meſſenger arrived from his Excellency Lord Stormont at Vienna; his diſpatches were immediately carried to Lord Rochford, who waited on his Majeſty with them, and had a long conference; afterwards he went to Lord North's, in Downing-ſtreet. In conſequence of the above advices, a Meſſenger was ſent off yeſterday morning to the Electorate of Hanover, and ſeveral expreſſes are getting ready with the utmoſt expedition, in order to be ſent off to Berlin, Stockholm, and Peterſburgh.

The Reſolution man of war will ſail down to Woolwich tomorrow, where ſhe is to take in her guns, after which ſhe will proceed round to Plymouth, to wait the arrival of Dr. Solander, Mr. Banks, &c. and then ſail on her voyage to the South Seas.

Orders are given for ſix veſſels, now in readineſs, to proceed on their voyage to Falkland's Iſland; they are laden with ſtores and proviſions.

Advice is ſaid to be received, that a ſecret negotiation is now on foot between the courts of Berlin and Denmark, highly detrimental to the intereſts of Great-Britain, and her allies.

MARCH 16. It is imagined that Ruſſia, in the courſe of the war, has loſt about 300,000 men, beſides ſhips, and money to the amount of forty million of roubles, or nine million ſterling.

Mr. Burke declared on Friday night in the debates on the Marriage-bill, that it ſhould not be allowed to paſs without a minute diſſection of all its parts; and that he would begin the operation.

Private letters from Copenhagen confirm, that the King of Denmark has repeatedly deſired to ſee his Queen, but the authors of the late revolution have always found ſome pretence to prevent their meeting; and it is ſaid, that in order to avoid all farther applications of that kind, it was determined to move the Queen to Aubourg in Jutland.

MARCH 19. The report of the day is, that Lord Gower will ſucceed Lord Townſhend, as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland; and that Lord Camden will be appointed Preſident of the Council. The latter was at Court laſt Sunday, at which place he had not appeared for ſome time paſt.

A correſpondent ſays, that the Marriage-act will receive the royal aſſent as ſoon as paſſed, to prevent any further diſcuſſion after that point is carried.

It is again reported that one of the Yachts, with a proper convoy, will be made ready to ſail, on a few days notice, for Copenhagen, in order to bring the Queen of Denmark from thence to England.

Extract of a private letter from a gentleman at Hamburgh, brought by the laſt mail.

" How hard the fate of one who was lately flattered with the title of a Sovereign Princeſs---To be denied the privilege granted to the loweſt wretch in the country of her nativity, which is, to be tried by their equals, and to have their accuſers brought face to face before them.------Directly oppoſite is her ſituation------Accuſed and tried in her abſence by wretches intereſted in her deſtruction; her pretended accomplices threatened with tortures which humanity cannot ſtand againſt---and conſequently muſt anſwer ſuch queſtions the inquiſitors pleaſe to put in the manner they chuſe to have them anſwered. Were the accuſations againſt her ever ſo well authenticated from ſuch a tribunal, no honeſt or humane perſon would give the leaſt credit to them.------Well may ſhe ſay with David, " Let me fall into the hands of God, " not into the hands of man!"

By the Hunter, Aſhbourne, from Leghorn, they adviſe, that ſome capital merchants from New-England, in America, had lately arrived there, in order to ſettle a correſpondence with the principal trading ports in the Mediterranean.

HAMBURG, February 20. On the 13th of February, at the Court then at Chriſtenbourg, a new Council of State was created: The colour given for this new creation is, that his Majeſty, out of a moſt tender regard to his ſubjects, deeming it more adviſeable that they ſhould be governed by many than by one head, has erected this Council of State. The manifeſto under which it was publiſhed conſiſts of four articles:---By the firſt article, his Royal Highneſs Prince Frederick, the Counts Thott, Rantzau, Aſhberg, Otto, Shack, Rathlou, Admiral Hann, Henry Roawling, General Hanz Henrick Von Eickſtedt, Adelphus Sieg fried, Miniſter for the foreign departments, are to aſſemble weekly, in the preſence of the King.

By the ſecond article, no perſon is to apply to this Council of State, until he has firſt applied to the College or Board that has cognizance of his particular buſineſs, and that board is to certify the facts, ſo far as they come under the immediate cognizance and direction of ſuch Board; the final deciſion of which is left entirely to this new Council of State; and ſuch determination or rule as they ſhall make, the King obliges himſelf to ſign.

By the third, all trials, inqueſts, proceſſes, &c. &c. are to be in the Daniſh language.

By the fourth, the King is to ſet his ſign manual to no inſtrument whatſoever, but in the preſence and by the information of ſuch perſon or perſons as are learned in the laws of the land; and, to prevent any further miſchief and future diſorder, it is declared to be the King's pleaſure, and if at any time, by ſurpriſe, or otherwiſe, he ſhould be inducted to affix his ſignature to any ſuch inſtrument, the poſſeſſor of it ſhall not uſe it until it ſhall have been examined into by the College or Board to which it properly belongs, and even after ſuch examination, it muſt be approved, ratified, and confirmed, by the Council of State, as mentioned in the firſt article.

FRANKFORT ON THE MAYNE, March 5. The waters of the Mayne and the Rhine have overflown their banks, and have ſpread as far as Mentz. This inundation has done moſt damage to the lands that were ſown, and will be an immenſe loſs to the proprietors.
